PROJECTS

Obesity and Food Environment Analysis, Chapel Hill, NC August 2025 – December 2025
Introduction to Data Science

- Analyzed USDA Food Environment Atlas dataset (250+ variables across all 50 states) to assess how income, food access, and SNAP participation relate to adult obesity rates
- Cleaned, merged, and validated multi-source public datasets using R, ensuring reproducibility and accurate state-level comparisons
- Built and cross-validated multiple linear regression models to identify statistically significant predictors of obesity outcomes
- Created 5+ data visualizations and coefficient plots using ggplot2 to translate statistical findings into actionable insights
- Presented findings in a structured analytical report tailored to non-technical stakeholders
